

THE
DUBLIN REVIEW.

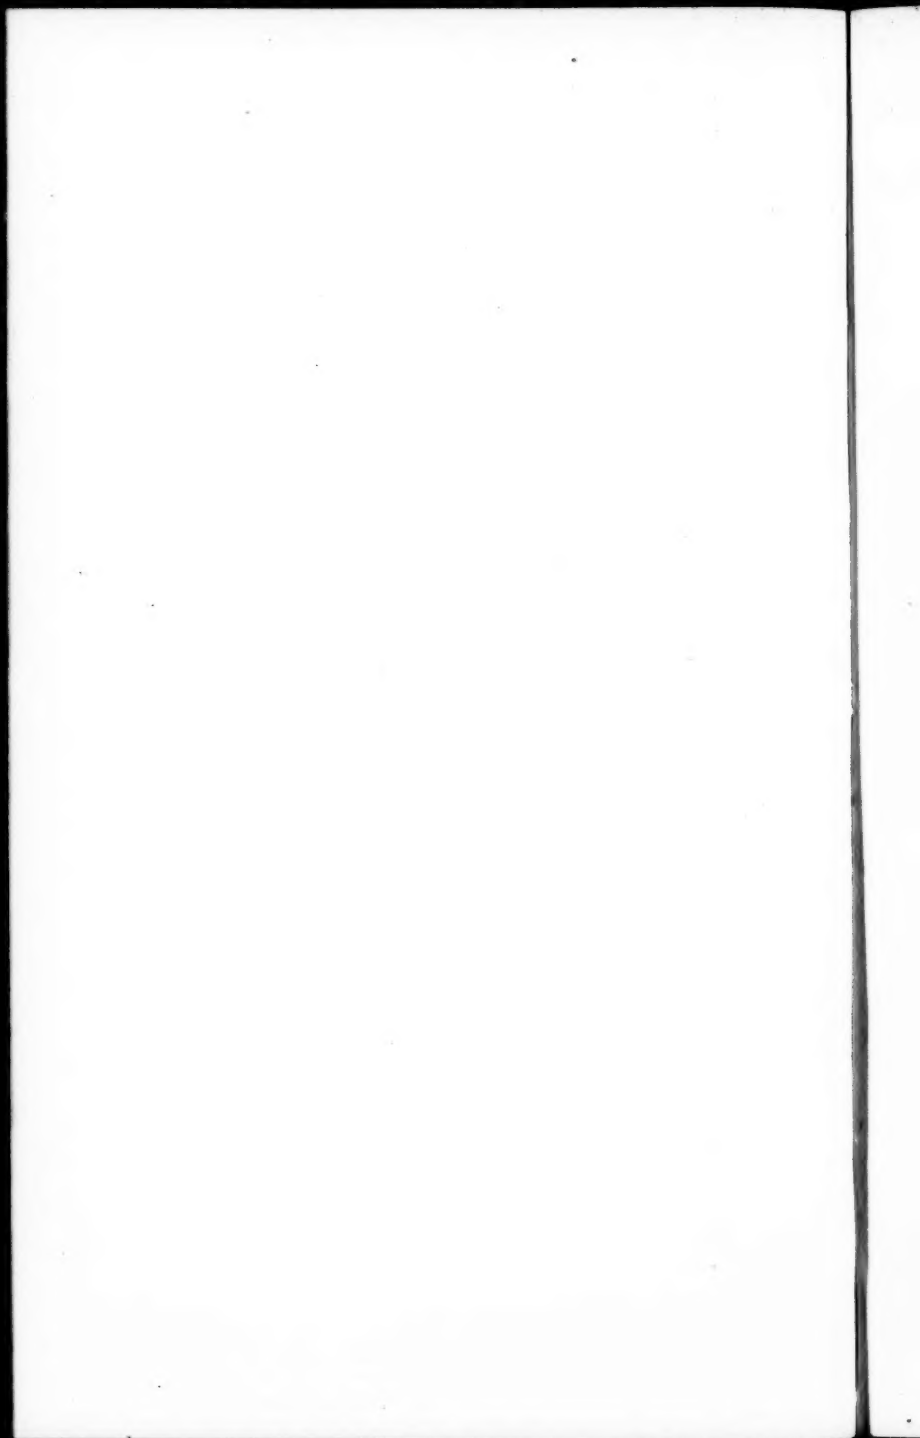

69

VOL. XVII. NEW SERIES.

JULY—OCTOBER,

MDCCLXXI.
PUBLIC LIBRARY,
DETROIT MICH.
SEP 17 1888

LONDON:
BURNS, OATES, & CO., 17 & 18, PORTMAN STREET,
AND 63 PATERNOSTER ROW.
DERBY: RICHARDSON & SONS.
DUBLIN: JAMES DUFFY; W. B. KELLY.
1871.

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—EVOLUTION AND FAITH.

Difficulty of arguing with Mr. Darwin	1
"The Origin of Species," and his later theory	2
The evolution theory in the point of view of faith	3
Its incompatibility with Revelation	5
The doctrine of the Soul	7
S. Augustine "de Genesi ad literam"	8
The question of special second creations	9
Two patristic schools of interpretation of the first chapters of Genesis	10
S. Basil's teaching	11
S. Augustine's teaching	13
Catholic faith in regard to the origin of species	15
And to the theory of evolution	18
Scientific men and miracles	22
Powers and phenomena	24
The abstract	26
Instinct and its phenomena	34
Mr. Darwin on matter and spirit	38

ART. II.—THE RULE AND MOTIVE OF CERTITUDE.

Former articles on philosophical subjects	40
Two schools of philosophy	43
Question stated as to the test of certitude	44
Answer given by the scholastics to that question	47
Primary truths are known by the light of reason	49
Answer to objections	51
Propositions inconceivable are not therefore untrue	55
Doctrine of various English philosophers on our subject	60
Mr. Mill's doctrine on our subject	62

ART. III.—DR. HAMPDEN AND ANGLICANISM.

Recent renewal of the Hampden controversy	66
Dr. Hampden's personal character	67
His charge against "the party"	68
Oxford before 1836	69
The Oriel school	71

The Oxford school	72
Mr. Newman's "Elucidations"	74
Dr. Hampden's Bampton Lectures	76
Correspondence with Mr. Newman	79
Dr. Hampden appointed Regius Professor of Divinity	85
Mrs. Davison's Letter	89
Action of the University authorities	91
The cases of Mr. McMullen and Mr. Ward	93
His retention of the headship of St. Mary Hall	95
Nominated Bishop	96
The opposition to his appointment	97
His alleged changes of doctrine	98
The Anglican theology of that day	101
Dr. Hampden of the "Dry School"	104
His persistent bitterness against opponents	106
His special vocation	107

ART. IV.—THE FALL OF PARIS.

Momentous events of last year	109
Causes of French disaster	110
False civilization of Paris	111
Decay of family life	113
Want of social sympathy	117
Unbelief	120

ART. V.—THE OPINIONS OF JOSEPH DE MAISTRE.

Recent attempt to misrepresent De Maistre's views	123
His character and influence	124
His lately-published essays	125
View of the French character	125
De Maistre on esprits forts	128
His method of study	129
His admiration of the British Constitution	132
France under Louis XIV.	133
The essential evil of Protestantism	135
The Edict of Nantes	137
His views of Italian policy	138

ART. VI.—GALILEO AND THE PONTIFICAL CONGREGATIONS.

Importance of vindicating the Congregational condemnation of Galileo	140
Reasons of the firm interior assent, which was due from contemporary Catholics to the doctrine of that condemnation	145
General objections to this considered	151
Reasonableness of Galileo's condemnation	155
True mode of interpreting Scripture	156
Scripture, in its one obvious and one traditional sense, taught geocentricism	157
In Galileo's time Copernicanism had no probability	159
The Church throughout permitted the freest scientific discussion of the question	163
F. Franzelin's view of Galileo's case	168

ART. VII.—THE CASE OF LOUISE LATEAU.

Dr. Day's article in "Macmillan's Magazine"	170
Dr. Lefebvre's book on the case	171
Summary of the book	172
Record of a remarkable ecstasy	173
Argument of the "Lancet"	175
Protestant frame of mind regarding such facts	176
The "British Medical Journal"	178

ART. VIII.—BERKELEY'S LIFE AND WORKS.

Character of Bishop Berkeley	180
His early life	182
Dublin in those days	183
Berkeley's first visit to London	185
Swift's sway in London	186
Berkeley's travels	187
His American scheme	191
Berkeley Dean of Derry	193
Returns to London to organize Bermuda Scheme	194
His marriage	196
Arrival at Rhode Island	196
Walpole advises his return	197
Appointed Bishop of Cloyne	199
Arrival and life there	201
His studies in medicine	202
His political writings	205
His philosophical system	209
Last days at Oxford	210

ART. IX.—THE JUBILEE OF PIUS IX.

Pius IX.'s frequent ex cathedrâ Acts	212
His definition of the Immaculate Conception	213
The Syllabus	214
His Confirmation of the Vatican Definitions	216
Dr. Döllinger's schism	217
Pius IX.'s language on Liberal Catholicism	218

ART. X.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

The Lords' Committee on University Tests	219
Bishop Ullathorne's History of the Revival of the Hierarchy	221
Baron Carbonelli's Questione Romana	222
F. Franzelin's Tractatus de Traditione et Scripturâ	223
The Month	225
Rev. Orby Shipley's Secular Judgments on Spiritual Matters	226
Sir J. T. Coleridge on the Purchas Case	229
Canon Liddon's Letter to Sir J. T. Coleridge	233
F. Waterworth's Queen Elizabeth v. the Lord Chancellor	236
Hon. Daniel Brennan on Galileo	237
Claims of the Irish College	237
Dr. Irons's Bampton Lectures	241
Dr. Irons's Address to Victoria Institute	245
Meditations on the Life of the Blessed Virgin	247
Miss Ramsay's Bells of the Sanctuary	249
Tales of Childhood and Youth	250
Mr. Leigh's Memoir of Miss Austen	251
Dr. West on Disorders of the Nervous System in Children	254

ART. XI.—F. FRANZELIN ON THE SUBJECT AND OBJECT OF INFALLIBILITY	258
--	-----

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—OXFORD, AS IT IS AND AS IT WAS.

Recent academical regulations in Oxford and Cambridge	267
Beneficial character of some recent changes	270
Oxford and Cambridge in regard to tests	271
Danger of the abolition of tests	272
Tutor and pupil	273
Value of subscription to the Articles	274
Evidence regarding the test	276
Qualification for fellowship	277
Effect of the modern philosophy in Oxford	279
Evidence of Messrs. Appleton and Liddon	280
Of Dean Mansel	281
Oxford thirty years ago and nowadays	282
The Keble College	284

ART. II.—MR. MILL'S DENIAL OF NECESSARY TRUTH.

Characteristics of Mr. Mill's philosophical writing	285
Mathematical axioms self-evidently necessary	287
Consideration of Mr. Mill's reply, based on the "association psychology"	292
Consequence of Mr. Mill's admitting that mathematical axioms are cognizable by purely mental experimentation	299
Mr. Mill's argument from the "Geometry of Visibles"	304
The allegation considered, that mathematical axioms are tautological	305
Three inferences from what has preceded	306
Phenomenistic anti-theists	308
Three arguments against phenomenism	309

ART. III.—PIUS VII. AT SAVONA AND FONTAINERLEAU.

State of affairs at the beginning of 1811	318
Ecclesiastical addresses to the Emperor	319
Number of the French Clergy in prison	321
The Church still free	322
Action of the Council of State	323
Project of a National Council	324
Noble conduct of Abbé Emery	325
Napoleon's respect for him	327
His death	329
Episcopal emissaries to the Pope	330
Gaining over of the Pope's physician	332

The Pope's reply to the Emperor's demands	335
His great anxiety and bodily suffering	337
The National Council of 1811	340
The Bishop of Secz	341
Decisions of the Council	344
New deputation to the Pope	346
The situation at Savona	348
The Pope's Brief concerning institution of Bishops	349
Napoleon's plans	350
The Pope refuses further concessions	352
The negotiations suspended	354
The Pope conveyed to Fontainebleau	355
Fresh negotiations	356
Napoleon personally negotiates with the Pope	357
The Pope retracts the new Concordat	359
His return to Rome	360

ART. IV.—REPLY BY F. BOTTALLA TO MR. RENOUF.

True meaning of the term ἐνεργία	361
Its use by the Greek Fathers	362
One operation and one nature	365
Whether the Monothelites denied both human activity and will in Christ ?	366
Monothelite proofs on this point	367
Opinion of Dorner	370
Did the Monothelites deny Christ's human nature ?	372
Mr. Renouf on this point	373
Hypocrisy of the Monothelites	374
Their forgeries :	376

ART. V.—OPPRESSION OF CATHOLICS IN SWITZERLAND.

Memorial of the Swiss Bishops	378
Result of the Sonderbund war	379
State of Catholics in Ticino and Basle	380
Interference with clerical education	381
Civil Marriage	382
Lassitude of Catholics	383

ART. VI.—THE ARCHBISHOP OF WESTMINSTER ON THE EVILS OF THE DAY.

Subjects of this volume of Lectures	384
Superstition of the day touching Faith and Reason	385
The Gnosticism of these days	387
The spirit of revolt	388
Atheism and rationalism	389
Tone of the press	391
Revolt of the will against God	392

Contents.

iii

Human lawlessness	394
Dogma and Reason	397
Accordance of these Lectures with the Syllabus	398
Christ and Anti-Christ	400
Catholic or Deist	401

ART. VII.—THE BASILICA OF SAN CLEMENTE.

F. Mullooly's early researches	403
Services of Cav. Fontana	404
First interment of S. Clement's relics	405
The wall of tufa and travertine	407
The slave's collar	408
The Mithraic spelæum	409
The Basilica	410
Pope John II.	412
Representation of the Assumption	413
Date of the frescoes	414
Translation of the relics of S. Clement	415
Death and burial of Cyril	417
The De Rapiza painting	418
Their date	419
Their subjects	420

ART. VIII.—THE ROMAN QUESTION.

Recent Italian discussions of Roman Question	421
Geneva past and present	422
Baron Carbonelli's preface	423
His account of the Italian Assembly	425
Ancient relation of Rome to Italy	426
Real mind of the Roman people	427
The plebiscitum	428
Failure of the municipal government	429
Law to guarantee the Pope's independence	430
The Italian Revolution	431
Centralization	433
Abbate Rosmini's scheme	435
The double diplomatic representation	437
The Two Peoples at Rome	441
The Roman Liberals and religion	443
Proposal that the Pope should resign Rome	445
Present state of Rome	446

ART. IX.—THE INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY.

The principle of non-intervention	447
The "supremacy of cash"	448
M. Desmoulins on the Parisian Red	449

The "Times" on the state of France	450
Passions of the French working classes	451
The Church and the poor.	452
Mazzini and Karl Marx	454
Origin of the International	455
Foundation of the Central Council	457
Its principles	458
Cluseret joins the International	459
Cluseret's letter to Varlin	460
The war of the Commune	461
The order to burn Paris	462
Its justification by the Central Council	463
The future struggle	464

ART. X.—ON THE FOLLY OF THE WAR WAGED BY POLITICIANS AGAINST THE DOGMA OF PAPAL INFALLIBILITY.

(Translated from the "Civiltà Cattolica") 465

ART. XI.—NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Sir Rowland Blennerhassett's Speech on University Education	475
Rev. Marcus Dods' The City of God	478
Rev. T. A. Walker's Origin of the Two Cities	"
Contemporary Review, August	482
Mr. Burgon's Gospel according to S. Mark vindicated	485
The Tablet	"
Rev. F. G. Lee's Martyrs omitted by Foxe	"
Rev. T. Northen's History of the Catholic Church	491
F. Genelli's Life of S. Ignatius of Loyola	495
Mr. Stewart Rose's Ignatius Loyola and the Early Jesuits	496
Dr. Melia's Life of Vincent Palliotti	499
M. Fontaine's Rome and Geneva	504
Dr. Laing's Tribe of Ephraim	507
F. Liberatore's La Chiesa e lo Stato	509
Saturday Review of Sept. 30	"
Cœlum Christianum	514
Hore Diurnæ Breviarii	515
F. Franco's Devotion to the Sacred Heart	"
M. Lebon on Holy Communion	517
Mr. Hamilton's Golden Words	"
The Lily of S. Joseph	518
F. Nieremberg's Adoration in Spirit and Truth	"
Miss Ramsay's Bells of the Sanctuary	520
Miss Starr's Patron Saints	521
The Lamp	"
Provost Husenbeth's Account of the Pontmain Apparition	522
The Catholic's Vade-Mecum	"